"The world improvers such as Hitler and Alexander propose to do it by force. The whole thing is a fraud, beginning with a lie...developing into a farce...and ending in disaster."

~ Bill Bonner

"Our, the American People's" media is running news of early signs of trouble in Trump-Vance paradise. One needs be careful not to read authenticity into news claiming Vice-President J.D. Vance didn't have a like broad vision of President Donald J. Trump's Day One pardons for some 1,500 'January 6th' pardons. Could just be convoluted disinformation-misinformation-distraction delusion.

"The clowns in Washington DC imagine that they sit astride a Superpower. Absorbed in fantasies of invading countries and remaking the world in America's image, little do our deluded leaders realize that America is in the hands of our Chinese and Japanese creditors. "

~ Paul Craig Roberts

Birthright Citizenship Denial, Reportedly, could be another bone of contention. "We, the American People" would not be in error to say children are innocent. Particularly so, at their first moments of birth. There could be an argument for altering America's federal (U. S./National) Constitution to restrict birthright citizenship to children born of U.S. citizens. Won't satisfy open borders advocates.

"If 'government' is defined as a system with a monopoly on the lawful use of force, such force can only be exercised against the lives and property of individuals".

If It Comes As A Surprise To “Us, the American People” there would be agreement departures between America’s presidents and vice-presidents, we do not have a grip on motives pushing people to gain legislative office. They who go after legislative office seek power to make their personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB) lawfully compulsory. Or, at very least, to corral differing PAVB influence.

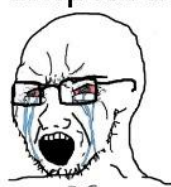

"By a continuing process of inflation, government can confiscate, secretly and unobserved, an important part of the wealth of their citizens."

~ John Maynard Keynes

Libtard!!

Trumptard!!

It Would Be Overly Optimistic for those of us who envisioned a Donald J. Trump return to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue as an elixir for socio-economic annoyance or to quiet external threats to America’s way of life. Tyrants are born every day. No nation is capable of suppressing people’s desire to have lawful (or, if not lawful, brutal) force over people. Aggression is deep-rooted in human nature.

"The great turning point of American foreign policy came in the early 1890s, during the second Cleveland Administration. It was then that the U.S. turned sharply and permanently from a foreign policy of peace and non-intervention to an aggressive program of economic and political expansion abroad."

~ Murray N. Rothbard

People Intending To Live In Liberty do not allow legislators – or other public officials within These United States of America, to overrule Commonwealth/State (10th Amendment) Sovereignty as determined and defined by citizens of those respective Commonwealths and States. They dismiss and recall elected leaders who put them at risk.

"Only a psychopath would stand in the midst of thousands of security guards and speak of 'the force of human freedom.'"

Poisonous creatures will often develop bright colors that warn of their toxicity.

It's All But A Categorical Statement to say government policies divide people. There's a media opinion-writer article floating around claiming "Our, the American People's" President Donald J. Trump delivered his Inaugural 2025 'unity' address by attacking his fellow Americans. Not hard to make a case for DEI, pronoun, gender diversity advocates, and climate change champions. Not hard.

"We, the American People" are not to be delivered from government-sponsored cultural division anytime soon. Maybe not ever. Not while we expect government to, somehow, satisfy our discontent. Discontent with our lot, discontent with perceived disadvantage and discrimination, discontent with our neighbor's bigger house, discontent with having to live with people who don't believe as do we.

"Deficits mean future tax increases, pure and simple. Deficit spending should be viewed as a tax on future generations, and politicians who create deficits should be exposed as--TAX HIKERS."

~ Ron Paul

Those Of “Us, the American People” who fancy ourselves as advocates for Liberty, if we are really intent on living by Liberty, don’t expect government to settle socio-economic disparity. Nonetheless, we are bound by law to grapple with government’s ‘leveling’ system of selective, arbitrary, and discriminatory legislation, taxation, and regulation (SADLT&R). Little more divisive than SADLT&R.

"It's simply not possible to both spend and save or invest the same money. Try it."

~ Ed Henry

SADLT&R Is A Thorn In Liberty's Side because we, a passive sovereign citizenry, allow legislatures and courts to exercise personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB) when legislating and adjudicating. Opinion piece writer at all in touch, Election 2024 did nothing by way of uniting us, apart from, possibly, affirming aims of those who voted for Election 2044 legislative office winners. Divided still.

"If you can make the world a better place by killing people in Baghdad and Fallujah, why not kill them in Tehran too? And why stop there? Why not take out a group in Paris...or Washington? Why not smother your mother-in-law or silence a rap star?"

People Gritty Enough To Live In Liberty do not allow legislators - or other public officials within These United States of America, to permit federal authorities or courts to define or limit their 10th Amendment powers beyond specific Constitutional constraint. They protect self-government by exercising citizen sovereignty.

"[a]n unconstitutional act is not a law; it confers no rights; it imposes no duties...; it is, in legal contemplation, as inoperative as though it had never been passed."

"Inasmuch as . . . all too many Americans is to presume that the Wise Men on the Potomac will take timely and thorough action either to prevent a crisis from breaking out at all, or (if a crisis proves to be unavoidable) to protect common Americans from financial ruin . . ."

~ Edwin Vieira

“Our, the American People’s” President Donald J. Trump wasted no time infuriating those who are deep into multi-gender identification. Nothing like alienating people with opposing cultural ideas than oneself. Given Presidential ‘orders’ are to be treated as law, then America’s federal executive branch employees and appointees will be in violation of President Trump’s male or female-exclusive edict.

"At every crucial point since the outbreak of the Civil War . . . Congress, the President, and the Judiciary have wrapped this country more securely . . . in the coils of unsound money and dishonest banking, . . . enabling the Establishment to exert an ever greater, ever more pernicious influence over every American's economic and political life."

~ Edwin Vieira

"We, the American People" could see long lines at court houses over President Donald J.'s 'war on gender.' It stands to be a hard argument, Constitutionally speaking, for either side. Lawyers on all sides are sure to come up with arguments based on some Constitutional precept to support their respective cases. Public opinion court might come down on requiring all to act like mature adults.

"What would we make of an American president whose Secret Service was made up of foreigners hired by the government of Hamid Karzai?"

~ Tom Englehardt

There Is A Distinct Difference between a right and a demand. A right, in theory, can not be denied. Unless someone acts to warrant right-satisfaction taken away. And, inherent rights are a far cry from legal rights. Thern, there's a wee small matter of enforcement. Were, for example, a court, say, America's Supreme Court of the United States (SCOTUS) rule against Trump policy, might be hot air.

"In time it will become clear to everyone that support for the policies of pre-emptive war and interventionist nation-building will have much greater significance than the removal of Saddam Hussein itself."

~ Ron Paul

Law Enforcement Resides, By And Large, with America's government executive branches. Should SCOTUS tell President Donald J. he may not deny anyone their innate right to self-identify as a Water

Buffalo, President Donald J. would, by implication, require his own Justice Department to force his compliance. Could be a titillating stand-off between presidential security detachment and police.

"A right of conscience cannot exist apart from the right of property. How can anyone have a responsibility to control what's done with his property without a right to control what's done with his property?"

~ Barry Loberfeld

People Committed To Live In Liberty do not allow legislators – or other public officials within These United States of America, to interfere in health matters between private citizens and their physicians. They uphold patient-doctor authority and privacy.

"As the state grows, one's sense of self-ownership is destroyed, liberty is traded for 'security,' the human spirit diminishes, rates of time preference increase, and the citizenry increasingly thinks and behaves like dependent children."

"Fiscal irresponsibility, a buccaneering foreign policy, a disregard for the Constitution, the barest lip service as a response to profound moral controversies: these do not qualify as authentically conservative values."

~ Tom Engelhardt

Everyone needs to do this, it's the only moral and reasonable course of action.

Just do it by choice? Haha no no I'd never do it by choice the government has to make me, and it has to make you too.

"We, the American People" who might have believed President Donald J. Trump would storm in and have his way are in for a rude awakening. One of America's heavy-hitting media outlets is running an article by a law professor who is unequivocal. President Trump's actions are unConstitutional. While it might be a rude awakening, it's not unConstitutional if President Trump can bring his action off.

"And what will they try? It will be, as if you had to be told, more of the same thing that got us into this mess! Hahahaha! More money and credit and deficit-spending! Hahahaha! What idiots! And we elected them! Hahahaha! So WE'RE the idiots! Hahahaha!"

~ Mogambo Guru

“Our, the American People’s” ‘Legislators-in-Chiefs’ are no different than many a legislator and magistrate. Constitutionality is nothing more than interpretation. Once legislators and judges make their Constitutional interpretation law, it’s another matter entirely. No longer is it penetrating discourse over pizza and beer. Now, people’s lives are affected. People’s lives are affected by lawful coercion.

"Do you think the French Revolution happened because prices for consumer staples deflated after their government printed up all that money? Hahaha! You think that the misery of Weimar Germany was caused by food being cheaper after the government printed up all that money? Again, I say, or chortle mirthlessly, as you knew I would, "Hahaha!"

~ Mogambo Guru

For Two-And-A-Half Hundred Years America’s legislators and judges have foisted their lawfully compulsory personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB) on “Us, the American People.” PAVB legislator and magistrate use to have us do their will as they interpret America’s Constitutions to mean in terms of how government shall inflict order on socio-economic goings-on. Whther we like it or not.

"Instead, government officials--politicians, bureaucrats and their advisors--get to confiscate private property in taxes and other takings and they get to say to what ends these will be contributed."

~ Tibor Machan

Major Disagreements Over Socio-Economic matters have yet to be resolved by legislative or related court action. Personal firearms and abortion, along with government control over America's education system are cases in point. There are no lasting standards either legislator or magistrate can apply when confronted with socio-economic dispute. Only precedents. Precedents applied at governmental whim.

"Americans must face the hard fact that, as far as money and banking are concerned, this country and the political class that misrules it have come to a final parting of the ways."

~ Edwin Vieira

People Determined To Live In Liberty do not allow legislators – or other public officials within These United States of America, to subsidize private enterprise with public money. They uphold free markets.

"Americans owe no allegiance, let alone obedience, to unconstitutional acts or to the criminals who perpetrate them. See Title 18, United States Code, Sections 241 and 242. "
