

“For your own good” is a persuasive argument that will eventually make a man agree to his own destruction.”

~ Janet Frame

One Example Of Someone Who is ‘super rich’ is someone who has an annual income of at least $1,000,000. Other examples cite varying amounts. It might occur to “Us, the American People,” given examples of ‘super rich’ people are meaningful, America’s IRS is already taxing ‘super rich’ people. They demanding ‘super rich’ be taxed more justify demands by saying ‘super rich’ are too powerful.

“Complete and accurate surveillance as a means of control is probably a practical impossibility.”

~ Victor Ferkiss1969

Presumably, Super Rich’ Are Too Powerful because they are able to exert comparatively too much influence on people in positions of lawful authority. It would be wise for us to bear in mind “Our, the American People’s” government officials have no more power than we, voters of a sovereign citizenry, allow our government officials to exert. We can, if we so choose, abolish laws we find unfitting.

“We are willing enough to praise freedom when it is safely tucked away in the past and cannot be a nuisance. In the present, amidst dangers whose outcome we cannot foresee, we get nervous about her, and admit censorship.”

~ E. M. Forster

We Are Hopeless Fools To Think allowing government to control property (wealth) will, somehow, make life better for everyone. Historical records, along with everyday examples of government largesse, offer examples of how putting more wealth in government hands has not, in all time, elevated quality of life for anyone who did not learn how to cultivate their own improvement. Determination.

“Being tolerant does not mean that I share another one’s belief. But it does mean that I acknowledge another one’s right to believe, and obey, his own conscience.”

~ Victor Frankl

People Resolved To Live In Liberty would not allow legislators - or other public officials within These United States of America, to interfere in business matters between private citizens in any way so long as those dealings are free of fraudulent behavior by all parties and do not encourage threats to national security by foreign powers or known enemies of These United States of America.. They would exercise citizen sovereignty and protect their property.

“The more laws the more offenders.”

You cannot reason with a potato.

A potato has no morals, no sense of right or wrong. A potato has no brain. It cannot think. It has no common sense. It cannot weigh evidence as it doesn't know what evidence is. You cannot embarrass a potato as it has no sense of guilt or shame. A potato loves living in dirt where it thrives.

Now change potato to Democrat.

Detractors Against Newly Elected Virginia Governor Abigail Spanberger are bellowing familiar cries: Governor Spanberger is wasting no time trying to turn Virginia into a replica of protest-torn Minneapolis. In part, because Spanberger rescinded her predecessor's pledge to have Virginia law enforcement work with federal law enforcement to round up illegals. Voters get their franchise goods.

“Foolish liberals who are trying to read the Second Amendment out of the constitution by claiming it's not an individual right or that it's too much of a safety hazard don't see the danger of the big picture.”

85% of worlds refugees are Muslim. Not one of 56 Muslim countries are taking refugees. If Islam is so great; why aren't Muslims taking care of their own? 😏😏

"For the greater good" almost always means "this will be bad for you".

And it's almost always said by someone it will be good for.

"Greater" just means them.

It Would Be Utterly Pointless for Virginia voters, if Virginia voters at large concur with Spanberger critics, to protest Spanberger's alleged efforts to reform Virginia. "We, the American People," whether or not America's election system produces as voters expect, have no one to blame for elections gone wrong. We have power to limit government officials' power to all but nil. If we choose. Choose.

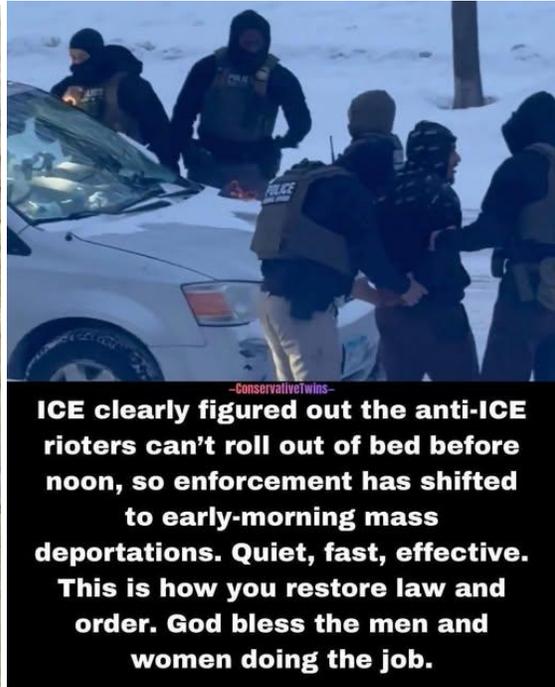

"The privacy and dignity of our citizens [are] being whittled away by sometimes imperceptible steps.."
~ William O. Douglas

“Our, the American People’s” election (government) system is no more reliable or predictable today than when Ben Franklin told an inquirer America’s government was a republic if Americans could keep it. Franklin’s observation is no less perceptive now. Citizens, sovereign or not, have power of numbers to shape government as they choose. Or, people, sovereign or not, can wait to be told.

“Abuse of power isn’t limited to bad guys in other nations. It happens in our own country if we’re not vigilant.”

~ Clint Eastwood

It Would Be Smart for “Us, the American People” to bear in mind Libertry does not come knocking on our doors. At best, legislative office candidates come knocking on our doors asking for our votes to let them make their personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB) lawfully compulsory. And, give them our votes, we do. And they make their PAVB lawfully compulsory. And we scratch our heads.

“Any time we deny any citizen the full exercise of his constitutional rights, we are weakening our own claim to them.”

People Dedicated To Living In Liberty allow legislators, or other public officials within These United States of America, to disregard these precepts? They wouldn't. They would exercise their citizen sovereignty and sustain self-government to preserve freedom, liberty, and independence.

Today is a federal holiday, yet most people are working! My office is on the block with the County Courthouse, People's Bank, Commerce Bank and then the Post Office. When there is a federal holiday there is little to no traffic and it feels a little eerie with the quiet, but it does lend one some silence to think. So, I got to thinkin' ... I know it's Martin Luther King's Day, but I want to look at the women on the bus...

Recently, on January 14, 2026, Claudette Colvin, a lesser-known figure who took a stand against racial discrimination as a teenager in Montgomery, Alabama, died at age 86.

Nine months before Rosa Parks refused to give up her seat on the bus, 15-year-old Claudette Colvin refused to give up her seat to a white passenger on a city bus in Montgomery, Alabama.

"History had me glued to the seat," the civil rights pioneer told the Guardian. "It felt as if Harriet Tubman's hand was pushing me down on the one shoulder, and Sojourner Truth's hand was pushing me down on the other. Learning about those two women gave me the courage to remain seated that day."

She aspired to become a civil rights lawyer and when the bus driver ordered her to move, she responded, "It's my constitutional right to sit here as much as that lady. I paid my fare."

While Claudette Colvin was the first to "keep her seat" for Liberty, the civil rights leaders chose Rosa Parks as the face of the Montgomery Bus Boycott. Claudette was only fifteen when she refused to give up her seat. She was darker skinned than Rosa Parks, pregnant and poverty stricken. Parks, on the other hand, was an adult, and a respected NAACP secretary with a "middle-class look," making her a more palatable symbol for the movement. Colvin's defiance came months before Parks' refusal to move to the back of the bus, but leaders opted for Parks' more "respectable" image to gain broader support, ultimately overshadowing Colvin's crucial role in the legal challenge that eventually desegregated buses.

I find it interesting how they were picking and choosing their defiant activists according to their "palatability."

"One thing especially bothered me – we Black students constantly put ourselves down," Claudette commented in "Twice Toward Justice", "The N-word – we were saying it to each other, to ourselves. I'd hear that word and I would start crying. I wouldn't let people use it around me."

After her arrest, she grew close with Parks. Other Courageous Black women followed her lead, refusing to surrender their seats, including Mary Louise Smith, Aurelia Browder and Susie McDonald. They brought the groundbreaking Browder v. Gayle lawsuit that resulted in Montgomery's segregated bus system being declared unconstitutional.

*"When it comes to justice, there is no easy way to get it," she said. "You can't sugarcoat it. You have to take a stand and say, 'This is not right.'" Claudette said.

The police officers who arrested them should have been disciplined and schooled on the Constitution. They didn't need to be fired or cancelled, but they did need an education on the Constitution.

We fought a civil war to FREE those who were in slavery. The democrats want another civil war, but it has nothing to do with freedom of any race, it has nothing to do with equality, it has everything to do with their gluttony for power, their hate for America, and their loyalty to MARXISM.

Breaking the rules, not the law!

These brave women, who took a stand by taking a seat, are not at all like the protestors we see today, who are protesting against ICE. (There's really no comparison.) Today's protestors against ICE are breaking the law. While these women, might have been breaking a "bus rule," as they claimed their seat on the bus, they were standing up for their equal rights, under the 19th Amendment. The protestors are breaking the laws, attacking others, and damaging property.

There is no comparison of these courageous women to the late Renee Good, anti ICE rioter. Renee was breaking the law, not for equal rights for anyone. She was certainly not standing for women's rights or protecting children. Renee Good, perhaps ignorant from the truth, was protecting child molesters, rapists, murders, thieves, drug traffickers and human traffickers. Renee Good and her partner thought they were playing a game with the ICE agents; but it is a dangerous and deadly game when you resist arrest and step on the gas while Federal agents are surrounding your vehicle. Renee Good was not courageous, she was foolish and she paid the ultimate price for her unlawful behavior.

Our nation has come a long way. However, the democrats will have you believe we have not! Yes, there are still individuals who hold prejudices in their hearts; that's a heart problem for them, but there is no systemic racism within our government. We have highly educated people of all colors in this nation. There are no people of color being deprived of broadband or the internet. There are no people of any color being denied a drivers' license or any other ID. Those are lies for which I cannot believe anyone is so gullible to swallow. These deceptions, which the democrats love to spin, intend to keep people of color enslaved and dependent on a new master, the government welfare system. Democrats love to make people victims, instead of victorious.

The Democrat Party turned their back on God a long time ago, and when they did so, they turned their back on America. They turned their backs on all Americans. Those they demean and abuse the most are America's poorest whites and America's black brothers and sisters. The Democrat Party systemically gaslights, demeans and holds others down, refusing them school choice and keeping their communities and neighborhoods plagued with crime. They absolutely hate the American Dream; it's not a white thing, it's an American ideology and it is a good thing!

The courageous women claiming their seat on the bus, were standing for Equality. Democrats push equity, which tells people that they are never going to be good enough.

All men are created equal; they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness! Holding people down and tying them to the government's apron strings is not Freedom and it is not Liberty; it is un-American!

Today is a Federal Holiday for which we should rejoice and remember those courageous women who stood up for your right to sit on the bus!

“The cry has been that when war is declared, all opposition should therefore be hushed. If the doctrine be admitted, rulers have only to declare war and they are screened at once from scrutiny.”

~ William Ellery Channing

A Couple Days Back, Canada's Prime Minister (PM) Mark Carney spoke 2,040-odd words to let “Us, the American People,” and anyone caring to know, things are not to be as they were, and Canada would forge civilization’s path to reality, honesty and a time when value-based relationships matter, because Canada’s equipped to lead reform because, partly, Canada’s people are Earth’s best educated.

“A right is not what someone gives you; it’s what no one can take from you.”

~ Ramsey Clark

Prime Minister Carney's Reform Theme is based on, in his characterization, by taking signs saying, "Workers of the world, unite" from windows. Such signs, according to PM Carney, were placed to keep people from being put upon for not going along with reformers' revolutionary aims. Despite flowering rhetoric, PM Carney's 2,040-word oratory left out details on forming values-based relationships.

"The Bill of Rights is a born rebel. It reeks with sedition. In every clause it shakes its fist in the face of constituted authority ... It is the one guarantee of human freedom to the American people."

~ Frank I. Cobb

PM Carney's Lack OF revolutionary Detail ought not come as a surprise to anyone who pays attention to those who seek lawful power over their fellow Earthlings. Whatever their reasons, results of their power to force lawful change counts. PM Carney is on record saying government's first priority should be making its domestic economy strong. PM Carney doesn't mention his source of Oracle authority.

“Men in authority will always think that criticism of their policies is dangerous. They will always equate their policies with patriotism, and find criticism subversive.”

~ Henry Steele Commager

There Is No Body Of Evidence Convincingly showing governments know any more about making strong economies than do aborigines in civilization’s remotest corners. Economies are, left without government regulation, people trading goods and services for goods and services. Traders decide if their trades are mutually beneficial. PM Carney and his ilk would use force to dictate trade value.

“It will be found an unjust and unwise jealousy to deprive a man of his natural liberty upon a supposition that he may abuse it.”

~ Oliver Cromwell

People Intending To Live In liberty do not allow legislators, or other public officials within These United States of America, permit federal authorities or courts to define or limit their 10th Amendment powers beyond specific Constitutional constraint? They wouldn’t. They would exercise their self-government prerogative.
