PI2025 #0128 – Government Of Despotic Coercion

ASK A HORSE

(Liberty Over License)

"But a government in which the majority rule in all cases cannot be based on justice. Must the citizen ever for a moment, or in the least degree, resign his conscience to the legislator?"

"Government has, step by step, invaded the free market and seized complete control over the monetary system."

~ Murray Rothbard

"We, the American People," as a sovereign citizenry, are able to elect anyone we choose to any elected government office. Arguments to prevent America's voters from electing whoever they choose would, of necessity, exclude voters' option to write in candidates of their choice. Were such arguments to become law we would live under legislative-judicial tyranny. We live under a self-government system.

"Our federal tax system is, in short, utterly impossible, utterly unjust and completely counterproductive...[it] reeks with injustice and is fundamentally un-American... it has earned a rebellion and it's time we rebelled."

~ Ronald Reagan

Media Have An Article Floating around reporting a proposed Constitutional amendment calling for any former president not having served two consecutive terms – and alive – to be eligible for election to a third term. Nothing in America's federal (U.S./National) Constitution keeps "Us, the American People" from electing representatives we choose. We have final say, or we live under tyranny. Period.

"Our income tax system is a disgrace to the human race."

~ Jimmy Carter

"Our, the American People's" media reporting proposed presidential term change is written, reportedly, to specifically exclude former President Barack Obama. Political tactic. It wouldn't matter how such an amendment was written. No law can alter our capacity - our authority and choice – as a sovereign citizenry. America's laws are rooted in Constitution precepts and protections, not edict.

"The only real disagreement between the two parties is which group of "Peters" ought to be robbed and which collection of "Pauls" ought to be awarded a place at the government trough."

~ Peter VanDoren

America's Constitutional Principles, Ostensibly institutionalized by America's legislative-judicial system, are subject to our acceptance as a sovereign citizenry. A formal government with final say over citizens is a government of despotic coercion. Despots rule by their personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB). They oppress people to suppress people's PAVB when contrary to despot PAVB.

"Conversations with Republican office-holders (regarding the 2003 Energy Act), suggest that they scarcely understand the implications of their rhetoric about limited government and are thus incapable of hypocrisy."

~ Jerry Taylor

People Set OnLiving In Liberty do not allow legislators – or other public officials within These United States of America, to interfere with how responsible citizens use their private property. They fiercely protect their most vital right – individual property ownership. Protecting property is protecting life.

"Those who have been intoxicated with power...can never willingly abandon it."

"But a government in which the majority rule in all cases cannot be based on justice. Must the citizen ever for a moment, or in the least degree, resign his conscience to the legislator?"

~ Henry David Thoreau

Yesterday, I was cooking dinner, and my son came up to me and said, "One day I will work and help you with the bills, the groceries, and the house expenses." My eyes started to tear up. My baby will be 32 next month.

"Our, the American People's" President Donald J. Trump has done it again. Nominated an Office of Management and Budget (OMB) director Congressional opposition party Senate Budget Committee legislators voted against unanimously. Not a bad thing. Opposition party Senate Budget Committee legislators boycotting Trump OMB nominee invites inquiry into their motives. Always a reason.

"There will never be a really free and enlightened State until the State comes to recognize the individual as a higher and independent power, from which all its own power and authority are derived, and treats him accordingly."

~ Henry David Thoreau

Some Congressional Senate Majority legislators are calling opposition party OMB nominee childish and akin to disappointed schoolyard kids taking their toys and beating feet home. "We, the American People" could see opposition party OMB nominee boycott as an example of how legislators never tire of striving earnestly to make their personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB) lawfully compulsory.

"There is no way you or I would tolerate a destitute father demanding child support benevolence at the point of a gun. Why should honorable hard working Americans tolerate similar behavior from a President and Congress?"

~ Wes Alexander

It Might Occur To “Us, the American People” Congressional Senate Budget Committee legislators who boycotted President Donald J. Trump’s OMB nominee are expressing their intent to keep our electoral will from prevailing. Nearly half Election 2024 voters, though, didn’t want Donald J. Trump bedding down at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.; so, it’s arguable they don’t want his OMB choice either.

"The (Federal Reserve Board)'s record as an 'inflation fighter' is more deserving of a court martial than a medal. Since the Fed's founding in 1913, inflation has gained so much ground against the defending Fed that a man who kept his money in gold rather than dollar bills would have nearly 20 times as much."

We, A Sovereign And Diverse citizenry, may never come to unanimity over who gets to make their PAVB lawfully compulsory. We can, because we are a sovereign citizenry, make sure America's legislators and judges have minimal impact on how we attend socio-economic goings-on. We're at least as capable as legislators/judges to work things out. Maybe not. We let them – to our discontent.

"Freedom means that when you wake up in the morning, your life, liberty and property are yours to do with them what you will."

~ James Ostrowski

People Presuming To Live In Liberty do not allow legislators – or other public officials within These United States of America, to enact legislation or regulations without majority approval of voters. They uphold Americans’ self-governing heritage.

"As the twenty-first century begins, it is actually a misnomer to refer to the House of Representatives and Senate as constituting the legislative branch of the U. S. government, because the most powerful legislators, those who construct the decrees that most directly impact people's lives, are entrenched in federal bureaucracies."

"The distinguishing features of the contractual society, of the unhampered market, are self-responsibility, freedom from violence, full power to make one's own decisions (except to institute violence against another), and benefits for all participating individuals.

~ Murray Rothbard

There's A Media Outlet Out There claiming it is “unapologetically pro-democracy. Because TRUTH is golden.” Democracy. Government where people have political control, head-of-state power, separates governmental entities power, protects natural rights and civil liberties. A veritable utopia. Not quite. Said media tells “Us, the American People’s” legislators are not a little bit whimsical.

"Good men acting through the state will strengthen its legitimacy and its institutional framework. They will weaken social power."

~ Wendy McElroy

Said Media Outlet Ran An Article naming some of “Our, the American People’s” Congressional Senators voting on a President Doanld J. Trump nominee who switched their vote from yea to nay because President Donald J. issued an Executive Order not to vote-switching senators’ liking. Wouldn’t be unkind of us, a sovereign citizenry of ordinary people, to can said vote-switchers.

"If government can find ways to engage in counterfeiting--the creation of money out of thin air--it can quickly produce its own money without taking the trouble to sell services."

~ Murray Rothbard

"We, the American People" ought can cote-switching senators, not because they voted as they did. Because they penalized someone because of someone else's behavior. We ought have gumption to toss vote-switching senators on grounds of hypocritical behavior in office. If nothing else, our legislative office holders ought be penalized severely for failing to behave with predictability for us.

"Yes indeed we know, people will find a way to go, no matter what the man says."

It Would Be Utterly Naïve for us to think legislative office holders ought be trounced for saying they'll do something, only to come up with sleazy reasons for not keeping their word. We can deal with legislators who legislate to our dislike. Legislators who switch about are another thing. People who don't keep their word are people not to be trusted; especially not so when they can exert lawful power.

"Inflation cannot go on forever. For eventually people wake up to this form of taxation; they wake up to the continual shrinkage in the purchasing power of their dollar."

"In a society which the collapse in investment, the crisis in pensions and insurance and soaring personal indebtedness continues to make the headlines, does it seem a trifle strange--not to say hugely counterproductive--that interest rates are at 40-odd year lows, something which, in a free market, would signal we were replete with genuine capital, not faced with a frightening shortfall of the stuff?"

Media Have Been Running Articles offering explanations on Democrat Party Election 2024 shellacking since Donald J. Trump was declared winner. Companion articles have offered up sundry ways Democrat Party can recover and regain legislative power, presidential legislative power foremost. Curiously, articles stress how legislative power can be regained, not American freedom strengthened.

"Which single institution routinely and mainly wastefully spends much more than it can afford, builds up actual and contingent liabilities willy-nilly in order to gratify its tastes today, undertakes no actuarial accounting whatsoever, but relies on tomorrow's income to meet today's bills---"
