According To An Article Run By "Our, the American People's" media, Safeguard American Voter Eligibility Act (SAVE Act) is not worth its cost for its value to America's election integrity. One of three AI sources accessed put SAVE Act cost at $361M. Given eligible American voters number between 170-174M, per voter capita cost would be on order of $2.07-$2,12. Not many broken banks.

“We, the American People,” if we expect to (ever) be truly self-governing sovereign citizens, would be well within our sovereign authority to require anyone who shows up to vote on how America shall be governed to be bonafide American citizens. No different than having to show evidence we are who we say we are for any number of things we expect to do where fraud escalates cost. Prudent measure.

„Give them bread and circuses". This expression is derived from the Latin phrase panem et circenses, referring to state-provided food and entertainment to keep the population happy and distracted. The Olympic openings are indeed a predictive programming. These ceremonies are, by design, densely packed with esoteric symbols, rituals and more.

Those Of “Us, the American People” who find SAVE Act not in keeping with America’s welcoming attitude toward all people would be well-advised to bear in mind there is no letup by those who would use any means they can muster to take away other people's freedom. Once a school is bombed, a concert peppered with automatic weapon fire, an embassy terrorized, it's too late to check identification.

SAVE Act Will Not Stop attempts to manipulate election votes. People wanting to gain legislative power by misrepresenting election vote tallies will go on indefinitely. Ballot count integrity is, in a way, a subset of voter eligibility verification. And, there're always possibilities of false real identification cards. Moreover, polling [places may not enforce identification. Not reasons not to try.

HOW TO DO COMMUNISM

"We, the American People" would be complete dullards to think America's government will protect people's private property (wealth) from confiscation based on defined government (public) need. We can, by definition, conclude every need expressed by government is a public need. No property (wealth) is confiscated for government need - - - by definition. Unless government is, in fact, public.

"The secret of happiness is freedom. The secret of freedom is courage."

~ Thucydides

🇺🇸 Sen. John Kennedy (R-LA):
 “Governor Tim Walz, whatever he says, believe the opposite. I’m sorry, the man learned to lie before he learned to talk. He’s just a less masculine version of Hillary Clinton.”

“Our, the American People’s” media report, for all to heed, Washington State Senate has approved a so-called millionaire’s tax. Media coverage notes Washington is one of nine American states without an income tax. Unless, if ‘millionaire tax’ passes Washington legislature and is signed into law, income earners in Washington earn more than a million dollars. Then, earnings over a million will be taxed.

“The man who asks of freedom anything other than itself is born to be a slave.”
 ~ ~Alexis de Tocqueville

Media Report To "Us, the American People" Washington voters have rejected previous attempts to implement an income tax. A 'millionaire tax,' though, would apply only to income earners getting over a million dollars – an example of selective, arbitrary, and discriminatory legislation, taxation, and regulation (SADLT&R). Washington voters will decide if it's OK to tax higher earners by SADLT&R.

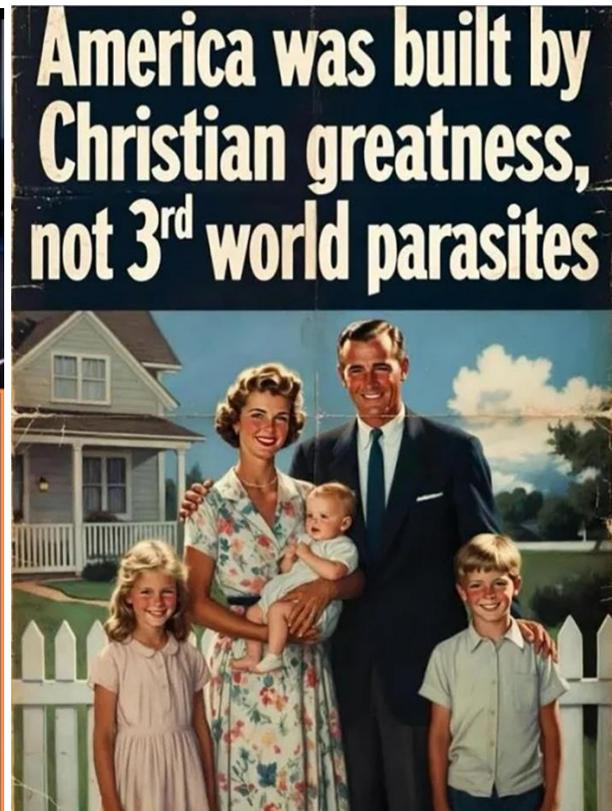

"The program of [classical] liberalism, condensed into a single word, would have to read: property."

Millionaire, Billionaire, Ultras-Rich taxes are always called for with tax fairness at heart. We would not be unreasonable to say government, by creating tax laws, defines tax fairness. Law is not sanctuary for people's property (wealth) ownership. Government, exercising SADLT&R, can take as much property (wealth) as government decides is needed -and fair - to satisfy public need. Law is law.

“This, then, is freedom in the external life of man—that he is independent of the arbitrary power of his fellows.”

Not All Presidents Are Worthy of President's Day

Some are worthy of a day in court and Americans are worthy for justice to be served.

Originally, this day was to honor one man: the Father of our country, President George Washington. In my lifetime there have been a few presidents who I would list as unworthy of “President’s Day.” Today we will bid Happy President’s Day to former and current Presidents, but in reality... this day belongs to our First President, George Washington.

George Washington was born February 22, 1732, and passed away December 14, 1799.

A fact I was not aware of until today, for 20 years George Washington celebrated 2 birthdays. My grandkids would love that!!

George Washington’s birthday shifted from February 11, 1731, to February 22, 1732, due to the British Empire’s adoption of the Gregorian calendar in 1752, which replaced the Julian calendar. Although born on the earlier date, he recognized the change to the “New Style” date, making him 20 on Feb. 22, 1752.

The Julian calendar was 11 days behind the solar year by 1752. So, in the year of 1752, Britain and its colonies skipped 11 days—September 2 was followed by September 14—to align with the Gregorian calendar. It was then that Washington’s birth date changed. Washington was born on February 11, 1731 (Julian), which became February 22, 1732 (Gregorian). Washington noted both dates throughout his life, but he adapted to the new calendar, ultimately celebrating the February 22 date. While sometimes incorrectly attributed to his birth year, the shift in his birthday was entirely due to this calendar reform, not a change in his actual birth year from 1731 to 1732.

Today is a holiday which is capitalized on by retailers. Federal and state employees, banks, courthouses, post offices and the lawyer’s offices in my town are all closed. Working and producing Americans barely know it’s a holiday... My studio is across the street from a bank, and it is humorous to see some old farmer pull up and try to do some bank business. Perhaps it’s humorous to a point, but that’s the man feeding Americans; working and producing.

I read today that President Washington always worked on his birthday... so America takes the day off to celebrate the man who never took a day off but kept working for a better America. He truly was the Father of our nation watching over us, as a good father does.

President George Washington was not affiliated with any political party; he was the true American. In fact, he warned us against the dangers of strong political parties.

“However [political parties] may now and then answer popular ends, they are likely in the course of time and things, to become potent engines, by which cunning, ambitious, and unprincipled men will be enabled to subvert the power of the people and to usurp for themselves the reins of government, destroying afterwards the very engines which have lifted them to unjust dominion.” George Washington in his farewell address.

In his farewell address he also states: “The basis of our political systems is the right of the people to make and to alter their constitutions of government. But the constitution which at any time exists till changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people is sacredly obligatory upon all.”

George Washington left office on March 4, 1797, after serving two terms as the first President of the United States. He voluntarily stepped down, setting a major precedent for the peaceful, voluntary transfer of power and a two-term limit, rather than seeking to serve for life.

Today we have politicians who refuse to take leave and go home. Originally Congress was given a recess to go home to their “real” jobs. Corruption and greed have brought us to career politicians who no longer represent the people but instead are protecting their careers. It is my opinion they should no longer receive that time off, since politics is their job, and perhaps their “vacation time” should be what they use for campaigning. We have representatives and senators who have died of old age while supposedly serving the people. Mitch McConnell can barely talk or walk... yet he still serves. (He is not seeking reelection... finally.) Diane Feinstein couldn’t complete a sentence, Texas Republican Representative Kay Granger, 81, was reported to be living in a Fort Worth, Texas, assisted-living and retirement facility in late 2024. Maxine Waters is in her 80s (claiming President Trump is too old). Their greed for power and wealth has left a bad taste in the mouths of most Americans. Unprincipled men!

Honorable is not how they are perceived. The Democrat Party installed Joe Biden as president knowing he was completely incapable of the job; they knew he was “sick.”

Upon hearing that George Washington planned to resign his commission and return to private life after the Revolutionary War, King George III of England reportedly said, “If he does that, he will be the greatest man in the world.” The remark was made to painter Benjamin West, reflecting amazement that a leader with loyal troops would relinquish power.

In my lifetime and in my opinion any president who works to remove Liberty from the People, who decides he is the one to “fundamentally change America,” is not worthy of the title President and does not deserve a President’s Day. Jimmy Carter was a horrible president... my memory of him was he was against abortion until his party said NO, we are FOR abortion. The economy was awful, and there was the thing in Iran, for which we still suffer today. Bill Clinton brought shame to the office with his numerous affairs and his lies. Barack Hussein Obama basically hated the Constitutional Republic and worked to “fundamentally change” America. He was a divider, not a uniter. His lies about healthcare (If you like your doctor, you can keep your doctor.) still haunt America today. He took it upon himself to send pallets of cash to Iran and encouraged their building of nuclear weapons. He knew those weapons were meant to destroy America, YET he encouraged it. Joe Biden was an embarrassment to this nation; other national leaders had to help guide him on and off stages and bring him back from wandering away. He will be known for the Afghanistan debacle, and he’ll forever be known as the autopen president.

None of them are worthy of a day to be remembered, they are worthy of a day in court and Americans are worthy for justice to be served.

My favorite picture of George Washington is when he is kneeling in prayer. Oh, that we would see humility in today’s elected officials. It meant so much to me to see men of faith laying hands on President Trump. I would also like to see him on his knees exhibiting his faith.

We the People need to be on our knees praying for these men and women, who perhaps are less than honorable, but still “need” our prayers. They need to know the God of George Washington.

“We, the American People” would be naive fools to think governments, by and large, through history, have pursued international expansion/domination/conquest. Informational sources like Encyclopedia Britannica and AI have sundry accounts of empires like Japan and Rome acting to bring other nations under their vast control. Modern-Day Iraq and Russo-Ukraine war are more recent takeover examples.

“The degree of a country’s freedom is the degree of its prosperity.”

~ Ayn Rand

Sources Addressing Nations Out to conquer nations offer various historical reasons/aims. Common ones include wealth acquisition, land, and political power. “We, the American People” would be smart - very smart – to recognize all nation-over-nation-conquest has amounted, and amounts to, property (wealth) confiscation and choice restriction. Every conquering nation sees its action vital and rational.

“As government expands, liberty contracts.”

~ Ronald W. Reagan

“Our, the American People’s” President Donald J. Trump has mentioned America taking over Greenland. Expressed purpose, to ensure protection against domination by nations whose governments would denounce American style Liberty and freedom writ large. We would be fools to dismiss personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB) as impetus for people seeking coercive control over people.

“It is not the business of the law to make anyone good or reverent or moral or clean or upright.”

~ Murray N. Rothbard

It Is Reasonable To Consider PAVB as driver for political-socio-economic discord in America (and other countries) today. Our legislators, chief government executives, and judges strive to make their PAVB lawfully compulsory for all. As a result, government officials use their lawfully compulsory PAVB to confiscate people's (property (wealth) and restrict people's choice (Liberty). Lawful tyranny.

"It is easy to be conspicuously "compassionate" if others are being forced to pay the cost."

~ Murray N. Rothbard

People Determined To Live In Liberty do not allow legislators - or other public officials within These United States of America, to define or limit their 10th Amendment powers beyond specific Constitutional constraint. They exercise citizen sovereignty to protect themselves and their families.

“The great non sequitur committed by defenders of the State, is to leap from the necessity of society to the necessity of the State.”
