

A Former Pennsylvania Commonwealth state Senator, when speaking, would open his remarks with this question: “Do we know and understand why we are free?” Said Senator never answered his question. A listener one asked for an answer, whereupon Senator replied if it required an answer person asking was not free. Could be considered an answer typical of a politician sidestepping matter at hand.

"But with respect to future debt; would it not be wise and just for that nation to declare in the constitution they are forming that neither the legislature, nor the nation itself can validly contract more debt, than they may pay within their own age, or within the term of 19 years."

~ Thomas Jefferson

“We, the American People” would do well to do some serious thinking about how know and understand why we are free. If, in fact, we are free. If, in fact, we are able to articulate freedom. Doesn’t take much digging to find discussion on freedom, and being free, amount to living under a variety of constraints while having ability to think, believe and act with a degree of personal choice.

“There is not a more important and fundamental principle in legislation, than that the ways and means ought always to face the public engagements; that our appropriations should ever go hand in hand with our promises.”

~ ames Madison

It Would Not Be Much of a chore for “Us, the American People” to claim we are free because of how America’s commonwealth, federal (U.S./National), and state Constitutions put limitations on government power to control us. Nor, would it be much of a chore to argue people are not free when government has even limited lawful power to confiscate property (wealth) and restrict choice (Liberty).

“I hope we once again have reminded people that man is not free unless government is limited. There's a clear cause and effect here that is as neat and predictable as a law of physics: As government expands, liberty contracts.”

~ Ronald Reagan

“Our, the American People’s” representative Constitutional republic governmental form does not lend itself to establishing and sustaining a clear state of freedom for living in an ostensibly free society. There may be no such thing as a free society when people are not able to act unimpeded on their personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB). PAVB tend to be subjective. And corrupt governments.

"We, the American People," if we get mad enough about selective, arbitrary, and discriminatory legislation taxation, and regulation (SADLT&R), trod our way to our polling places, cast our fateful ballots for legislators/politicians we hope against hope will get government off our collective backs by relieving our lives of costly SADLT&R. ## Those Dirty Rotten Scoundrels

The resolution for transparency has been referred to the Committee for Killing Ethicality.

It's all political theater...

We've suspected that the Epstein files are a distraction and a money grab by the so-called victims (survivors) and their lawyers, however, it seems we have even more serious issues in "The People's House;" Congress!

The Nays have it – in a 357 to 65 vote in Congress, the overwhelming majority voted against honesty, integrity and transparency.

Where's Truth and Transparency?

US Rep. Nancy Mace, R-S.C., proposed forcing a vote on a resolution she filed directing the US House Committee on Ethics to: “Preserve and publicly release all records related to investigations into Members of Congress for sexual harassment, unwelcome sexual advances, and sexual assault under House rules.”

The House Ethics Committee - that's rich!

Maybe they should be called the House Unethical Committee for the Protection of Congressional Scandals.

According to US Rep. Thomas Massie, R-KY, there is an untold number of congressmen who have spent a combined $17 million of taxpayer money to settle sexual harassment claims made against them.

They call this a “slush fund.” It’s sad that they have to keep this “spare change” on hand... just in case... right?

We know that Congress has been sweeping their dirt under the rug for quite some time. The most recent example is that of Tony Gonzales US Rep. R-TX. He admittedly had been having an affair with a former staffer, Regina Ann Santos-Aviles, who later committed suicide. He refuses to resign and is currently running for reelection; “Nothing to see here!”
RIGHT?

Nancy Mace, who is a rape victim herself, stated, “Staff deserve to work without being harassed by their bosses. Women deserve to be safe, and the American people deserve to know when their so-called ‘representative’ is abusing power instead of serving their constituents. No more hiding. No more excuses. It’s time to end the cover-up and drag the truth into the light.”

However, when it came to vote on Wednesday, March 4, 2026:

The majority of the we-want-all-the-Epstein-files Congress... 357, disagreed with the resolution. Nearly all the republicans, and nearly all the democrats, voted to refer the resolution to the committee (that ethical one we mentioned earlier here), which is basically where resolutions go to die. Perhaps it should be called the Committee for Killing Ethicality. By the way, there were a few “brave” Congressional members who: One voted present – not voting, and nine abstained from voting at all.

It would seem that there is no party line when it comes to dirty rotten scoundrels!

How much do we pay these scumbags? They have time to “screw around” on our time and on our dime, but they don’t have time to balance a budget or indict others who are defrauding the government (that’s you and me)... Instead of using their own money to cover their own transgressions, they defraud and steal from us... the American People!

So, the transparency of the Epstein files is, of course, to bring justice for the victims... all those survivors of sexual abuse and such. But there is to be no transparency or justice for the victim-survivors of sexual abuse against staffers by Congressional members.

I agreed with Carl Higbie on Newsmax; when he suggested that Attorney General Pam Bondi subpoena the records of Congressional ill-reputes and make them public record!

Hey, after all, we paid for them!

There’s the old joke:

A young man studying in a college abroad sent this SMS (short message service) to his father:

“Dear dad, no mon, no fun, your son. To which the Father writes back...”

“Dear son, too bad, so sad, your dad.”

It’s time, “We the People,” pulled the plug on Congress and stopped allowing them to rob from us to “have their fun.” Those Dirty Rotten Scoundrels!

Wake up America, it’s time we introduced Congress to some tough “love.”
