

“We, the American People” need government regulation for Artificial Intelligence (AI) - now. Lest Planet Earth be consumed by information chaos and ill deeds. So, says a media article credited to AI’s premier architect. Firstly, Planet Earth needs no AI help to be consumed by information chaos and ill deeds. Secondly, at least as importantly, government regulates by law restricting choice. By law.

“Love your country but fear its government.”

~ N.E. folk wisdom

It Is A Fallacy To Presume Government is categorically necessary. In theory, depending who happens to be theorizing, government is necessary to protect people's rights, etc. Such presumption implies government is necessary to protect people from people. Or, we could presume government is necessary to protect "Us, the American People" from us. We elect people to protect people from people. Befuddling.

"Where is it written in the Constitution, in what section or clause is it contained, that you may take children from their parents and parents from their children, and compel them to fight the battle in any war in which the folly or the wickedness of government may engage it?"

~ Daniel Webster

Consent Of Those Governed is, in some instances, considered a vital ingredient of upstanding government. Ironically, there is no assurance those elected will protect those who elect from those who are elected. Shakespeare was wary of guardians. "Our, the American People's" legislative candidates and legislators seek, or have and seek to hold, office to make laws, not conduct raffles.

"There are many farm handouts; but let's call them what they really are: a form of legalized theft. Essentially, a congressman tells his farm constituency, "Vote for me. I'll use my office to take another American's money and give it to you."

~ Walter Williams

AI according to the news:

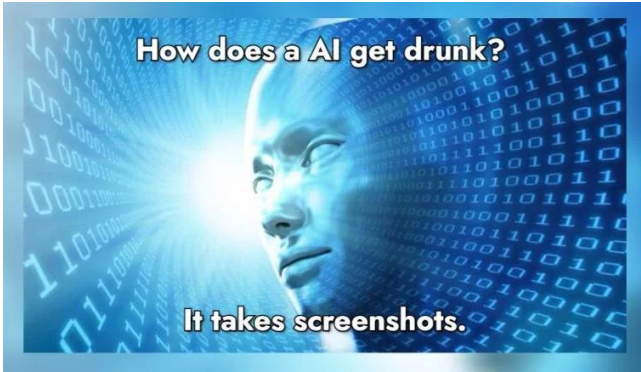

AI in real life:

AI Says AI Is Computers Or Computer-like robots doing things associated with human intelligence. We can presume, with reasonable expectancy, AI devices/systems will operate on a familiar rule all automation follows: Garbage In, Garbage Out (GIGO). How it is they who advocate government oversight of AI will dodge GIGO is utterly baffling. No more so than thinking Popes are infallible.

Hard To Say Who Has A Corner on America’s core values market. America's AI Sources Vary a bit when asked to identify America's core values. AI sources list freedom, hard work, self-reliance, individualism, opportunity, patriotism, and common cause as America's core values. Who, exactly, gets to define America's core values for "Us, the American People" is unclear. Might not be a bad idea if each of us were inclined to come up with a core values list as suits us.

PATRIOTPOST.US: OBJECTIVE AND UNCENSORED ANALYSIS

"We, the American People" would be smart to take a jaundiced view when public figures, present or past, presume to define America's core values. Wouldn't be a long shot to bet they're listing America's core values based on their personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB). Hot Dogs, Apple Pie, and Chevrolet might be as close as anyone gets to pinpointing America's core values. Freedom is illusive.

An oligarchy dances with a Marxist sway, but their banana republic is NOT here to stay.

BETH ANN

There are times my mind just strays to something fun and crazy, even in a situation as serious as America is in today!

Since we’ve heard the news of NY D.A. Bragg’s promise to indict President Donald J. Trump, I’ve heard the phrase “Banana Republic” used to describe the horrific attacks on President Trump. Is America now a banana republic without hope of returning to our Constitutional Republic? If America is now a banana republic, will We the People just rollover and accept it?

I think we must be realists. We the People should listen and watch carefully as to what is being said and done, in the case of President Donald J. Trump. It is my opinion that the democrats are all committing treason against We the People and our Constitutional Republic. We must deal with this reality and begin our restoration locally.

I come up with some crazy thoughts once in a while, something new to help us deal with the seriousness in a fun way. We the People must find some humor as we Take Our Freedom back and restore our Republic!

With all the “Banana Republic” chatter my mind went back to the old Chiquita banana commercials and the Chiquita banana song. This is the little jingle I quickly jotted down, and we named it “The Banana Republic Mambo.” It is to the same tune as the commercial for Chiquita bananas.

The Banana Republic Mambo!

We're a banana republic and its so sad to say.

The democrats have taken all our rights away.

An oligarchy dances with a Marxist sway,

But their banana republic is NOT here to stay.

So, they burned the constitution.

To Establish a commie institution.

The bill of rights oh they must refuse them.

They choose power over freedom.

Of insurrection they are guilty.

Their dirty lies are oh-so filthy.

Our justice system they have rigged,

China thinks it has a brand-new gig.

(key change-half step up)

Their banana republic is NOT here to stay.

We the people, YES, we will have our say!

It is for Life and Liberty that we pledge.

You Democrats are now living on the edge.

We the People are not happy.

We the People will not stand

For your communist Oligarchy.

We will remove YOU from our land!

Cha-cha-cha

* Next up... "Yes, we'll have no banana republics, we have no banana republics today..." 😊*

I hope you enjoyed my poetic lyrical approach to this most serious infringement on our Liberty! As we were pretending to live FREE, the democrat party worked long and hard at indoctrinating our children and taking over America's media. Soros has been funding their campaigns for the return of his agenda, "Fundamentally Changing America" and turning this country into a Marxist-Communist regime.

These are the times that try men's souls. These are the times in which We the People must stop and strategize as to how we will right the wrongs and remove the corruption from our... OUR Government.

“That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness....” (from the Declaration of Independence)

Consent of the governed is you and me, We the People. It is our right, it is our duty, to restore America’s Constitutional Republic and Bring America Home. ©

Media Outlets Periodically Cover special elections from a viewpoint of how such election outcomes may indicate major party gains or losses in coming elections. "We, the American People" would be smart to consider election gains or losses as nothing more than shifts in who gets to say how government officials will confiscate property (wealth) and restrict choice (Liberty). Power is key.

“Our, the American People’s” elected officials take oaths of office requiring them to uphold America’s commonwealth, federal (U.S./National), and state Constitutions. There are no oaths of office for GOP office winners, other, differing. oaths of office for democrat office winners. Democrat and GOP office candidates, though, differ radically in how they vow they will carry out their respective oaths of office.

“Our forefathers made one mistake. What they should have fought for was representation without taxation.”

~ Fletcher Knebel

America's Commonwealth, Federal (U.S.) National, and state Constitutions are not specific in how office holders are to meet oath of office requirements. Legislative office holders are Constitutionally empowered (required) to enact laws upholding Constitutional precepts and protections. It is up to legislators to articulate such laws. They do so by their personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB).

-- Ed Callan

Legislators, Government Chief Executives, and judges interpret Constitutional provisions as their PAVB urge them. Reason being, Constitution verbiage is not part and parcel equivalent to a law. Laws articulate Constitutional intent – as legislators, government chief executives, and judges interpret. It is up to “Us, the American People,” as a sovereign citizenry, to assure officials’ PAVB are not despotic.
