

As It Happens, President Donald J. Trump, as is true of any American President, came face to face with legislators, chief government executives, and judges not easily swayed by intimidation. “We, the American People” would be smart to take note of how it has not been a rubber stamp road for President Donald J. in his quest to make his personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB) lawfully compulsory.

There Is No Unequivocal Evidence of precisely how America’s founders expected life for “Us, the American People.” We can be pretty sure, after a quarter millennium groping with America’s triumvirate governmental system, there’s virtually nothing taken for granted in politics or laws emanating from politics. Get twenty-three people together to figure out an ideal stop sign, they’ll bicker endlessly.

“Everything government touches turns to crap.”

Individualism, By And Large, Comes Across as a driving American force. Ironically, while individualism characterizes Americana culture, individuals, are prone to keep individualism in tow. To our credit and likelihood to be comparatively free of individuals who would, if they could, have us all follow their lawfully compulsory PAVB for fear of retribution, should we not. We shall not, our credo.

Nary A Media Day Goes By without “Us, the American People” getting word Congressional lawmakers are out to pass affordability agenda legislation so ordinary work-a-day people can have more by paying less. Virtually every plan lawmakers put forth calls for taking more from people who have more and giving it to people who have less. Why they with more will tolerate it being taken is a bit vague. A bit.

There Is Nothing In America's Commonwealth, federal (U.S./National), or state Constitutions hinting government shall have power to produce prosperity. (The American Crisis by Thomas Paine, December 23, 1776)

I shall conclude this paper with some miscellaneous remarks on the state of our affairs; and shall begin with asking the following question, Why is it that the enemy have left the New England provinces, and made these middle ones the seat of war? The answer is easy: New England is not infested with Tories, and we are. I have been tender in raising the cry against these men, and used numberless arguments to show them their danger, but it will not do to sacrifice a world either to their folly or their baseness. The period is now arrived, in which either they or we must change our sentiments, or one or both must fall. And what is a Tory? Good God! What is he? I should not be afraid to go with a hundred Whigs against a thousand Tories, were they to attempt to get into arms. Every Tory is a coward; for servile, slavish, self-interested fear is the foundation of Toryism; and a man under such influence, though he may be cruel, never can be brave.

(The American Crisis Continues by Beth Ann)

Oh, that our battle today be against the cowardice Tories of yesteryears. While we have many a Tory in modern America, today in the year of our 250th Anniversary of Independence, we have enemies within; within our own government, legislating against our governing documents, denying our very existence as a sovereign nation, and denying God Almighty. Our inalienable rights, in their sick minds, exist only by their permission and legislation.

While these enemies might speak of the constitution and utter the phrase rule of law, their cold lips burn with lies; it is their actions that give them away as the thugs and insurrectionists that they are. The Tories of today have an allegiance and loyalty to Globalism, which is nothing more than World-Wide-Communism. This form of government is in no way compatible to our Constitutional Republic; it is the exact opposite.

Some are no different than the Hessians; hired to commit violent acts, even murder. Others are uneducated regarding freedom and are completely dependent and enslaved to king government; bureaucracy.

The Tories of today are still cowards; they might talk a loud talk but their walk staggers, and they never follow through with upholding our Constitution. They shrink from Liberty and opt for Globalism, government bureaucracy and slavery.

Invasion from without, and convulsions within.

(excerpt The Declaration of Independence)

“He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the mean time exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within...”

Consider the line, “He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected...”

Is this not the intention of Gerrymandering our districts for the elections of those serving in the House of Representatives? Depending on which of the two parties has the power in a state, is what determines where district lines will be drawn. The purpose, of course, is to (depending on which party) manipulate the large populated and the lesser populated areas to favor one political party's voting bloc. This was never the intention of our Founding Fathers. In fact, it is the opposite. They put in place the “Electoral College,” which is only for determination of Presidential elections. However, if a party has finagled districts so that their party is always in the majority of Congress, the Legislative branch, it ties the hands of the President; the Executive Branch. While the three branches of government are to be “checks and balances,” keeping all three honest with the Constitution, in today's modern two-party system, the parties seek to control all three branches of government and if one does not, it will block the administration from fulfilling its duties.

The presidential election year of 2020 brought to light, more than ever before, the extreme, yet obvious possibility that our elections are less than honest. If the election of 2020 was such a righteous election, why was it a point of great contention? Why did states and counties refuse to allow Americans to see their records? Why did they refuse to answer questions... to look into what appeared on the outside to be corrupt? Cheating! Transparency was an obvious solution and would have stopped all the speculations and accusations. It was the refusal to be transparent that grew the distrust of the American people. Unless changes are made, each and every election will now be subject to great scrutiny.

At the time of Thomas Paine's writing of "The American Crisis," he did not have the luxury of referencing our documents; the Declaration of Independence, or our Constitution. He did, however, believe in the Independence of a nation of people; sovereignty on an individual level and national level. A sovereign nation has boundaries, the Democrat Party of today no longer believes in sovereignty, only in the power of the party and government. They have no boundaries when it comes to gaining more power; they will do whatever it takes. In their way of thinking, there is no "We the People."

"Every Tory is a coward; for servile, slavish, self-interested fear is the foundation of Toryism; and a man under such influence, though he may be cruel, never can be brave."

This is how I see today's "Marxist-democrat-party" and, unfortunately, many of our modern-day career politicians.

Just as it was up to our Founding Fathers to win our Independence, it is now up to us, the patriots of today, We the People, to restore and keep our Independence; Consent of the Governed...

There Is Not Much Hope on “Our, the American People’s” horizon for less political bickering over redistricting and claims of voting rights violations. Charles Manson never killed anyone himself. He simply brainwashed a gang of low IQ white leftists into doing his bidding. In their deranged minds they thought they were social justice warriors. Today's democrats are using the same Charles Manson playbook.

Gerrymandering Started When A New England Governor decided voter redistricting could win an election. It didn't work, according to historical records, but gerrymandering remains a political tactic to try swaying elections. "We, the American People" would be smart to bear in mind gerrymandering, per se, has no power to control how people vote. Nonetheless, people crave lawful political power.

Ironic isn't it?

The Democrats, who recently protested AGAINST Kings during their "No Kings" protests, gave KING Charles of England about a DOZEN standing ovations! 🏆🙄

Some of you came from the "If you stop crying, I'll buy you something" generation.

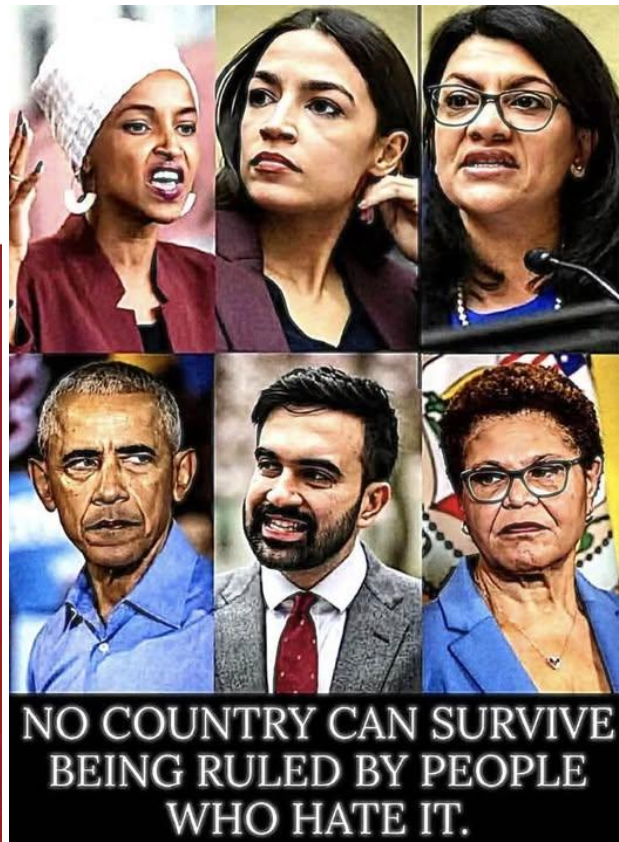

We came from the "If you don't stop crying, I'll give you something to cry about" generation.

We are not the same.

NOTICE THE PRESIDENT IS CONCERNED ABOUT MELANIA!

Some Of “Us, the American People” find it fitting to decide for others how they shall be allowed to secure a share of America’s capitalism bounty by using government power to regulate trade to support socialistic principles in exchange of goods and services for goods and services. Socialistic principles are rooted in collective ownership to promote equity. Contrastingly, capitalism promotes choice.
