Bullying in 2030 be like

Minnesota's Governor, Tim Walz, wants "Us, the American People" who are democrat loyalists to get meaner. 'A little meaner,' if media coverage has Governor Walz's remarks accurate. Why Governor Walz calls on democrats to get meaner, when democrats are, according to media, suffering from a toxic brand, id more than a little perplexing. For us to expect politicians to be logical, would be illogical.

"Our government has kept us in a perpetual state of fear - kept us in a continuous stampede of patriotic fervor - with the cry of grave national emergency."

~ Douglas MacArthur

WHEN SOMEONE SAYS THEY USED TO GET BULLIED

What you think they mean

What they actually mean

Tough People Don't Have to tell people to be tough. They let their deeds speak. Moreover, there's every possibility Governor Walz, were he to meet up with someone tough, again, will suffer a similar fate to his first go-round. "We, the American People, =much as we tend to be predictable when it comes to political behavior, can be pushed too far. Cross those proverbial lines, we can be utterly merciless.

"You cannot legislate the poor into freedom by legislating the wealthy out of freedom."

~ Adrian Rogers

the bully looking back because i said stop bullying me:

Governor Walz, In His Bully-Like Tirade against his first-order-nemesis, President Donald J. Trump, called on people to kick proverbial feces out of President Donald J. Wouldn't be a bad idea for His Honor Walz to give some thought to who President Donald J. Has faced down during his ventures in private and public sectors. President Donald J., bombastic thought he may be, tends to act on his words.

"They make a rout about universal liberty, without considering that all that is to be valued, or indeed can be enjoyed by individuals, is private liberty."

~ Dr. Samuel Johnson

"We, the American People," can get along quite well without Governor Tim Walz or President Donald J Trump, if need be. We could go so far as to render governor and president lawful power so limited no would-be tough individual would take time to seek their offices. America's chief government executives have no business preaching how their parties need to be mean. It's unbecoming behavior.

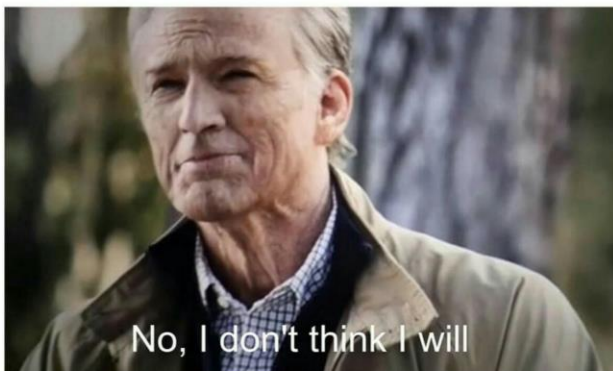

"The ideal tyranny is that which is ignorantly self-administered by its victims. The most perfect slaves are, therefore, those which blissfully and unawaredly enslave themselves."

People Committed To Living In Liberty do not allow legislators – or other public officials within These United States of America, to interfere in business matters between private citizens in any way so long as those dealings are free of fraudulent behavior by all parties and do not encourage threats to national security by foreign powers or known enemies of the United States of America. They stand by their right to use their property as they see fit.

"Our, the American People's" media has an article in circulation with upwards of 1,400 words warning even President Donald J. Trump, business entrepreneur extraordinaire, is unable to fix America's national debt. News of no surprise to anyone who knows anything about keeping one's fiscal management house in order. Keeping debt at bay is basic. Don't allow outgo to exceed income.

"We are willing enough to praise freedom when it is safely tucked away in the past and cannot be a nuisance. In the present, amidst dangers whose outcome we cannot foresee, we get nervous about her, and admit censorship."

~ E.M. Forster

When “We, the American People” allow America’s federal fiscal managers to spend more than comes into federal coffers, it’s inevitable. National debt will go up steadily, ad iminium ad nauseum. If we expect America’s national debt to drop, we have to force America’s federal fiscal managers to spend less than they take in. Private sector lenders foreclose when borrowers don’t get their affairs in order.

"The essential psychological requirement of a free society is the willingness on the part of the individual to accept responsibility for his life."

What's your choice?

MotivatedMindset

It Is Not Axiomatic Government can not go without budget-described necessities. Such ought be patently obvious to “Us, the American People.” If we expect government not to confiscate our property (wealth) till there is no more property (wealth) to confiscate. They, who claim rich people do not pay their fair tax share is why we have a deficit, will come to grips when rich people’s wealth is grabbed.

"When bad men combine, the good must associate; else they will fall one by one...."

~ Edmund Burke

How One Looks At Wealthy People having too much is immaterial when mathematics comes into play and notions of wealthy people's greed causing austerity for everyone else are reduced to ideologically-wishful dust. Wealth can be confiscated but once. They who accrue wealth will not be so stupid as to accrue wealth again, only to have it confiscated again. Debt is reduced by reducing relevant spending.

"Nobody made a greater mistake than he who did nothing because he could only do a little."

People Expecting To Live In Liberty do not allow legislators – or other public officials within These United States of America, to subsidize private enterprise with public money. They uphold free markets.

Those who are here reading this Substack are more than aware that our nation's Republic is in great danger. Danger is real, but it is certainly not the first time this nation has faced great peril.

I gain encouragement when I go back and read quotes from our Founders and others who fought great battles for our Liberty.

Thomas Paine wrote in the American Crisis: “We have every opportunity and every encouragement before us, to form the noblest purest constitution on the face of the earth, we have it in our power to begin the world over again.” Within those same thoughts of the American Crisis, Paine also stated, “Those who expect to reap the blessings of freedom, must, like men, undergo the fatigue of supporting it.”

As we weigh out the battles and obstacles before us, do we believe they are too great to conquer? Is our Republic so lost that we cannot restore it?

When I read about these great men who spoke and fought for Liberty, I realize that Liberty truly is always in the hands of the people. However, Freedom must be a longing and a lust within their hearts; such a longing that they are willing to “undergo the fatigue of supporting it.”

We have many battle fronts before us, as we watch our own elected officials protesting against our Liberty, disregarding our Constitution and breaking our laws. Appointed judges are obstructing the President of the United States (elected by We the People) and then ruling on agendas instead of making honest, Constitutional decisions. The mainstream and lamestream media became the voices of the LEFT and the Democrat Party, as they too join the efforts to destroy America. Together they all promote the “deconstruction” of America’s core values. (read previous Substack here)

We see the following quote as somewhat humorous, but just think and consider the frame of mind, full of grit and determination, it took to meet such an impossible situation and persevere for Liberty...

“The enemy is in front of us, the enemy is behind us, the enemy is to the right and to the left of us. They can't get away this time!” Douglas MacArthur.

...and there's the famous quote from U.S. Marine General Chesty Puller, which was recorded to have been during the battle of the Chosin Reservoir, "We've been looking for the enemy for some time now. We've finally found him. We're surrounded. That simplifies things."

The words of these men cry out to us today. Even if it seems we are surrounded by the enemy, surrender is not an option. Perseverance, persistence and yes, perhaps a large amount of stubbornness should be our mindset for Liberty.

Do we believe that America is too far gone now to save our Republic? Do we believe our battle is greater and more dangerous than those who went before us?

Some battles are fought by great men, while others are fought and won by ordinary people in their own backyards.

What is the battle in our backyard? Our local governments, our own elected officials, our local news outlets and our local schools are in the backyards of all Americans. As a Constitutional Republic, We the People are the government, however, if we are unwilling to stay active and informed, the Republic will be corrupted and lost.

A defeatist attitude did not win our Independence 249 years ago and it will not restore our Republic today.

"In every declining civilization there is a small "remnant" of people who adhere to the right against the wrong; who recognize the difference between good and evil and who will take an active stand for the former and against the latter; who can still think and discern and who will courageously take a stand against the political, social, moral, and spiritual rot or decay of their day."

~ Donald McAlvaney

Catholicism's New Pope, Leo XIV, media report, took his name from a line of Popes with name, Leo. Leo, name-wise, is, ostensibly, associated with strong leadership. Catholicism's Popes are seen as visionaries of how Catholics are to live their lives, spiritually and practically. Pope Leo XIV's predecessor, Pope Francis was known to be activist minded, in Church matters, and social matters.

"We do many things at the federal level that would be considered dishonest and illegal if done in the private sector."

~ Donald Regan

"We, the American People" are supposed to be free of state-sponsored religion. America's federal (U.S./National) Constitution says so in its 1st Amendment. Constitutional principles, push come to shove, have limited influence on how people go about day-to-day living. We could say, for example, there's scant difference between conscripted wealth redistribution and religious-based gracious giving.

"The history of the welfare state is the history of public enterprise pushing out private organization."

~ Doug Bandow

"Our, the American People's" representative Constitutional republic government system, Constitutional precepts and protections notwithstanding, operates on laws. Laws require behavioral compliance. In theory, laws are supposed to be rooted in societal values in aggregatae. Societal diversity makes it near impossible to satisfy all. Consequently, laws amount to control by majority.

"Foreign aid might be defined as a transfer from poor people in rich countries to rich people in poor countries."

~ Doug Casey

Pope Uses Holy Spirit.

It's Super Effective!

It Would Be Categorically Naïve for “Us, the American People” to expect religious leaders, least of them a Pope, would not be committed to having government support their creeds. Not all religions tolerate others, as history and current geopolitical conflicts attest. Pope Leo XIV calls on America’s 50 million Catholics to adhere to their Faith, spiritually, and in their daily lives, including how they vote.

"The common denominator in all government activity is the use of force: Government either forces you to do things, forces you not to do things, or forces you to pay for things."

~ Doug Newman

People Determined To Live In Liberty do not allow legislators – or other public officials within These United States of America, to enter into contracts with collective bargaining units. They forbid government from confiscating their property.

“All the fiery rhetoric of the Founders was directed at a 'tyrant' who taxed his subjects at a rate of about three percent. Today, we in 'the land of the free' are taxed at about 50 percent when you add federal, state, and local taxes. What kind of government would do this? A dictatorship would.”
