"Because the hippie is willing to let others be free, and the voter is not."

~ Larken Rose

"We, the American People" have a federal government in disarray. Given media coverage of government goings-on is not misinformation, disinformation, distraction, or fake news. Examples include stories like, a U.S. Representative legislator claiming to represent MAGA base warns GOIP will lose congressional majorities because of President Donald J. Trump's impulsive leadership.

"A free market in education is a bad idea because some child somewhere might fall through the cracks,' even though in today's government school, millions of children are falling through the cracks every day."

~ Larry Reed

When you flush the toilet and the the water starts rising

More Examples Of “Our, the American People’s” federal government in disarray include a) a state Attorney General categorically saying he’ll not comply with a court order; b) Poll putting Democrat Party at a sixteen-year approval low; c) Congressional Senate majority leaders fail in end-run attempt to side-step 60-vote bill passage rule. Why we tolerate government acting so is mystifying – and nuts.

"A censor is a man who knows more than he thinks you ought to."

~ Laurence J. Peter

It Would Be Smart for “Us, the American People,” for example, where Congressional Senate simple majority versus 60-vote rules are concerned to require our federal legislators to reach, say, a 75-vote majority to pass any – any- bill. Clear-headed bills would sail through. Myopic, partisan bills would go down in flames, or, get revised so they sail though like clear-headed bills. A better remedy, there is.

"Human beings are perhaps never more frightening than when they are convinced beyond doubt that they are right."

~ Laurens van der Post

We, A Sovereign Citizenry, Could require our government to hold in abeyance, in any political subdivision, any legislation implementation failing to gain a seventy-five percent voting majority. No legislation failing public acceptance is, arguably, legitimate. When sovereign citizenries don't rein in government, those societies stand to lose all liberties they may think they have. Despotism is despotism.

"Yet every time the government uses its money or its power to favor this group or that the net result is such a web of supports, subsidies, interventions and controls that it is almost impossible for a nation to find its way back into a dynamic system of really free enterprise."

~ Lawrence Fertig

Why you so quiet? What's on your mind?

People Prepared To Live In Liberty do not allow legislators – or other public officials within These United States of America, to enter into defined-benefit contracts with collective bargaining units. They preclude government from eroding their assets through property confiscation.

"We, the American People," thanks in no small part to SCOTUS opinions falling to limited enforcement power, are finding cause to question SCOTUS practical supremacy. It's not as though SCOTUS Justices use their nominated-confirmed-seated authority to demagogue their way into people's ways of life. It's more a matter of lawful validity when laws are subjected to public scrutiny.

"Therefore governments will never consent to diminish the number of those well-trained and submissive servants, who constitute their power and influence."

~ Leo Tolstoy

People In Positions of Lawful Authority – and some who want to be – oft characterize “Us, the American People” as living by law, not by men (aka tyrants). Law amounts to a system of behavioral restraint and imposition accepted by a social group. Law has no – no – immutable basis. Law, through history, has undergone change after change, all resulting from challenges brought by societal segments.

"In order to get power and retain it, it is necessary to love power; but love of power is not connected with goodness but with qualities that are the opposite of goodness, such as pride, cunning, and cruelty."
~ Leo Tolstoy

SCOTUS Justices Taking Umbrage with SCOTUS majority-voting Justices, all said and done, has virtually no influence on societal acceptance. Public opinion, should ordinary people amass and exert their sovereign citizenry clout, define law's time-driven endurance. Courts, like it or not, rely on government executive branches to infuse court-rendered opinions into society. Otherwise, are noise.

"In all history there is no war which was not hatched by the governments, the governments alone, independent of the interests of the people, to whom war is always pernicious even when successful."

~ Leo Tolstoy

People Intending To Live In Liberty do not allow legislators – or other public officials within These United States of America, to enact, impose, or increase taxes without securing a majority vote approval in all jurisdictions affected. They protect against property confiscation.

Like most of you, I watched the President's address to us on Saturday evening as he announced that the U.S. took out (hopefully completely) three of the Iranian nuclear sites. With this action, we are told that the world has changed.

I'm not trying to be a naysayer here but, the Iranians haven't stopped firing missiles into Israel; targeting civilians, hospitals, schools, shopping malls, etc. The Iranians haven't stopped making death threats, war threats, assassination threats against American leaders. We didn't yet put an end to the hate Iran holds for Israel, America and most, if not all, the western nations or, specifically, Christians all around the globe.

As I was typing this, there is yet more Breaking News:

"Iran Says It Launched a Missile Attack on a U.S. Base in Qatar"

At this very hour, the U.S. has not yet made an official statement in regard to this alleged attack.

Upgrade to paid

Hate seems to reign over the Middle East as all the other nations allow one bully to dictate to all the world a perception of hate to all those who are not “them.”

With President Trump in office, I feel we have a strong leader and a man who is looking out for all America. President Trump is a man who wants peace throughout the world. However, peace cannot come unless those involved truly want peace.

Has the world changed?

I believe a glimmer of hope has come to light in the hearts of those who want peace. People speak of Iran having or needing a regime change. I am told on one hand that the Iranians want their dictator leader gone; yet on the other hand, I see (perhaps it's only Iranian propaganda) hundreds or thousands of the Iranian people on the streets of Iran screaming about death to Israel and death to America, which doesn't really convey a want for a regime change, or for peace.

Can these people, who have been under a regime of strict religious and cultural control for nearly 50 years, remember the days when they, as a nation, had some freedom and prosperity? As it was, they traded one dictator for another, and their oppression became even greater and more dangerous; perhaps that is how they prefer to live.

Why can't they live oppressed, if that's what they want, and leave the rest of the world alone? Why is little Israel such a sandbar in their burqas? Their hate for Israel has nothing to do with anything Israel has done. Israel has very little land, (which I know their ownership of is of great contention to many in the Middle East) but it is a hate for the people and goes back in history to Biblical times. In their “radical religion” the Ayatollah believes Israel must be completely annihilated. Their god asks them to destroy and kill all of the Jewish people, and then they must also kill all Christians. Not understanding Christianity, in their twisted way of thinking, they believe all the western nations are Christian and all must be annihilated, exterminated, irradiated from the face of the earth. While their god demands they kill for him, our God, who died for our sins, only asks that we believe and LIVE for Him. There is no room or want for peace in the hearts of the Iranians, who harbor such hate in their beings.

Upgrade to paid

I don't know the answers.

First and foremost, I trust in my God and my Savior!

Secondly, I trust President Trump. Our President needs our prayers. I heard the emotion in President Trump's voice Saturday evening. After giving the Ayatollah numerous opportunities to negotiate and do what is best for his people, he (the Ayatollah) chose to continue the war against Israel and the death threats against Americans. Besides death to all Americans, the Ayatollah called for the assassination of President Trump, Secretary Marco Rubio, VP J.D. Vance, John Bolton, and former Secretary Mike Pompeo, as well as other American leaders. President Trump did what had to be done, after the Ayatollah refused to come to the table and negotiate peace.

Thirdly, I confess I do not trust our Congress in America. Throughout the decades they have led us into never-ending wars, they are responsible for the open border crisis, and they continue to battle President Trump on nearly every issue.

There seems to be no apparent diplomatic way to peace when a heart is full of hate. There seems to be no changing of the heart of the radical Islamic Ayatollah.

What's next?

There are many claiming a third world war. I'm praying we can avoid that, as we have a Commander in Chief who is strong and prefers peace. Peace will only come through strength, and President Trump is a strong leader for America.

"For Such a time as this" God has placed President Donald Trump as the leader of the free world. When President Trump spoke Saturday night, he mentioned loving God... and that meant a lot to me!

Americans must acknowledge God, and spend some serious time on our knees.

Oh God,

May America once again be Your Beacon of Love and Salvation to all the world, and truly change the world for Your Glory!

Amen

The World Has Changed They Say...

God Bless America, God Bless and guide President Trump... God Bless Israel, and God please... Bring America Home, Home to God, Family and Country.

“We, the American People” are, now, a quarter-millennium into this socio-economic experiment we call America. One would think we, by now, would know if our heads are screwed on right. If we gauge our competence by how we allow our government to operate, there is a strong argument we are missing some very basic ideas about living in a free society as a sovereign citizenry. We don’t. We’re grasping.

There Is, Arguably, Little Hope for us to live in Liberty under freedom if we are unwilling to exert our authority by sovereign citizenry force. America's legislators, chief government executives and judges will never be short of excuses to confiscate property (wealth) and restrict choice (Liberty) to meet arbitrary state needs.
