There Are Between 18 and 19 Million California taxpayers, Artificial Intelligence (AI) having accurate data. Media report those taxpayers will face 67 tax and fee increases under pending California tax laws. Media also report Golden State's billionaire tax faces a precarious fate with Golden State voters, given a third of citizen initiatives pass. 67 tax and fee increases are more than noteworthy.

Election 2026, Body Politic Surveys Verifiable, will give "Us, the American People" some idea of how America's political sentiments will run through General Election 2028. Election 2026 stands to change Congressional majority status for America's two major political parties. President Donald J. Trump well either be able to hack awa at his agenda, or, Donald J. will spend his time vetoing opponent bills.

"At the heart of western freedom and democracy is the belief that the individual man ... is the touchstone of value, and all society, groups, the state, exist for his benefit."

~ Robert F. Kennedy

“Our, the American People’s” election history is one of pendulum-like behavior as far as legislative majorities are concerned. Voting-wise, our tendency is to give one major party a chance till a future election, then elect opposing major party. No matter party seated in officialdom, our legislators will focus on confiscating property (wealth) and restricting choice (Liberty). Self-government in name.

“Men fight for liberty and win it with hard knocks. Their children, brought up easy, let it slip away again, poor fools. And their grand-children are once more slaves.”

Legislators, Regardless Party Stripe, make it their business to have their personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB) enshrined in law. PAVB, due inherent bias and prejudice, do not lend their influence to coming up with laws benefitting all, harming none, including ‘billionaires.’ Should legislatures lose majority status in Election 2026, “We, the American People” will not be satisfied.

'Election Remorse' Comes From Our Willingness to let legislators write laws based on legislators' personal attitudes, values, and beliefs (PAVB). When legislators can make their PAVB lawfully compulsory, self-government goes out proverbial windows. PAVB is inherently biased. America is a culturally diverse country. PAVB-driven laws can't help but be antagonistic to lots of people.

You know how I feel about rural America; there's a lot of country in this country! I love rural America and its busy yet laidback nature. There's an appreciation within the rural communities for the simple things in life. Rural Americans have a strong value for God, life, family and country, and they work hard to protect and preserve all life. Rural Americans are an independent people who border on stubbornness; in a good way.

I have traveled by car across a good part of this country, and it amazes me how much country is in this country. I've seen the fields when they were in their time of dormancy, watched the fields prepared for planting, and then I was amazed at growing and harvesting. I've seen the land when it has laid idle, and I've witnessed a lot of wasted land covered with solar panels, some held acres upon acres of unsightly windmills and yet others were barren of production, paid for by some government program. (Conservation Reserve Program, CRP)

There are those in America who obviously do not know where their food comes from. These same unknowing people would remove your vote to self-govern; the choosing of a representative or President. AOC once posted a video as she rode through the “countryside,” and then rudely commented about the lack of people or votes there. These narrow and unproductive thinkers and talkers support the removal of the electoral college. If you are a democrat and you live in rural America, do you realize it is your political party that wants to remove or diminish your vote? The electoral college is only used during Presidential elections; our Founding Fathers put it in place to protect the votes and representation of Americans who live in the country. Protecting minority Americans over a popular vote, which does not represent all of America.

Redrawing the voting districts to favor larger populated areas (gerrymandering), simply for the number of votes, intentionally causes the rural voters votes to virtually disappear.

I mention this because I recently heard a morning “News Rundown” presenting the question, “Can President Trump get the rural Americans energized to vote in the midterms?” I found that to be an interesting thing to say or ask, especially since not one of those on that panel know anything about rural America.

The reason the democrats and the deep-state loving RINOs seem to not consider seriously the large victory President Trump won in his last election, is because rural Americans were a vast majority of that victory. We were referred to as “rubies,” if you remember. They have an uppity nature that looks down on those who actually make their lives better.

It is rural America that produces most of what all America needs to survive; food production; whether it be meat, fruits or vegetables. Rural America brings energy; coal, oil, hydro and even nuclear. Mining our precious metals, iron ore, lead, and others, all happens in rural America. And how about those rare earth minerals that keep your batteries energized? Those synthetics and natural fabrics, such as cotton, wool, leather for coats, silk, polyester, your denim jeans, the canvas on your tennis shoes, or your spandex yoga pants; all wood products from your toothpick to your furniture originate in rural America. These are the Americans that make life “all American,” and they are the very ones the democrats wish to remove from an honest election process.

Upgrade to paid

Rural Americans deserve to have their voice in today's politics. You don't hear any mainstream media discussing property rights or inheritance tax. They might complain about the price of bread or hamburger, but they don't have a clue about the growing of the wheat or the cost of cattle, the gestation of calves, lambs, or hogs. Food doesn't just magically appear on the grocery shelves, or between the buns of your McDonald's quarter pounder with cheese. Those rural truck drivers delivered and it was the slaughter houses, processing plants, canneries and other factories and industries that bring life to Americans in those cities, and suburbs.

Who will be their voice, if their voices are virtually removed and silenced? Rural America needs to be heard, we need positive representation, so that rural Americans; ranchers, farmers and producers can flourish. When they flourish so will all of America.

So, I conclude this message as I started it; there's a lot of country in this country. If you are not voting or if you are voting for a democrat who is pushing to change our "government," you're biting off the hand that feeds you. If you live in rural America and you are about to vote democrat, you are biting off your own nose to spite your face; your vote will be nothing more than symbolic.

There's a lot of Country in this Country, let's protect her, keep her voice alive and relevant. Support the Electoral College, protect and guard it; it brings fairness and equality to our elections, as it secures that rural Americans have a voice in their governance. "Consent of the governed!"

Former Labor Secretary Under President Clinton, Robert Reisch, is calling for Elon Musk's SpaceX and Star Link should be nationalized. Nationalizing is putting private business under government control for reasons of national security. Owners of nationalized businesses are not compensated as a matter of course. "We, the American People" would be smart to make nationalization arduous.

"The very purpose of a Bill of Rights was to withdraw certain subjects from the vicissitudes of political controversy."

Nationalization takes place at government convenience for government-declared reasons. There is no way for “Us, the American {People}” to know if political purposes do not move government to nationalize. Nationalization takes place when government declares it necessary for public interest.

“It is error alone which needs the support of government. Truth can stand by itself.”

Kenyans take great pride in having raised one American president, and hope someday to send another to lead the USA.

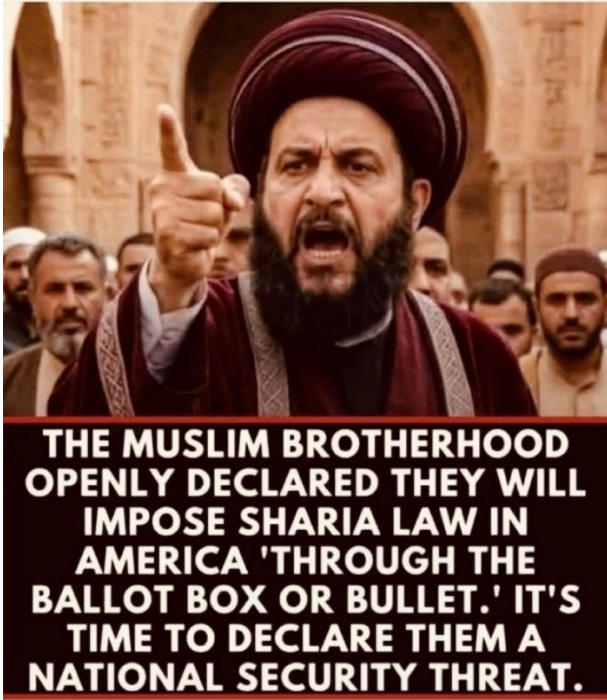

Robert Reich Claims Government Purchases 75% of products produced by a Musk company and is justification for nationalization. Constitutional authority for nationalization lies in America's 5th Amendment. Whether Robert Reich's justification of 'too-much-power-for-one-person' meets 5th Amendment stipulation is debatable. Legislators interpret Constitutionality to their benefit.

"The spirit of resistance to government is so valuable on certain occasions, that I wish it to be always kept alive. It will often be exercised when wrong but better so than not to be exercised at all. I like a little rebellion now and then. It is like a storm in the atmosphere."

~ Thomas Jefferson

A serious claim that deserves scrutiny, debate, and attention to America's constitutional principles and national security

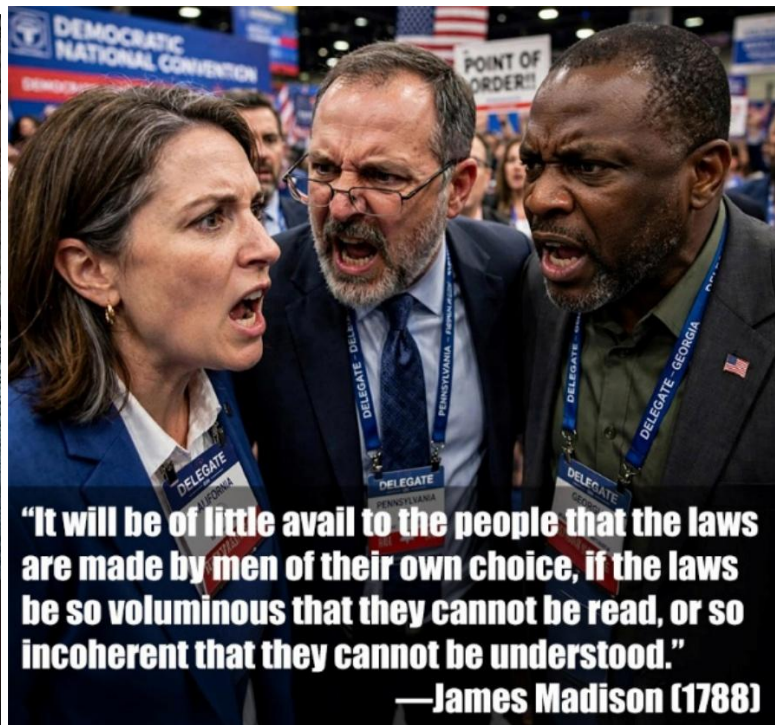

Artificial Intelligence (AI) Accurate, nationalization typically takes place coincidentally with crises. AI can't tell a sovereign citizenry when nationalization is crucial. We should not be surprised when election candidates declare their candidacies focused on ameliorating crises - real or contrived. AI can point out elements of candidates' supposed crises. We would be smart not to vote based on crises.
