Meridia Are Speculating United Kingdom's two-party political systems will be defunct. Fallout from a burgeoning Reform UK. Reform UK, AI sources on point, is gaining ground as a movement appealing to Great Britain folks losing confidence in traditional political parties. "We, the American People" have, since we started thinking government can produce prosperity, backed America's political parties.

Doesn't Matter If It's United Kingdom, Deutschland, South Africa, Somali, United States, or Australia. Government has a singular purpose – confiscate property (wealth) and restrict choice (Liberty). Not fair to say legislators, chief government executives, and judiciaries are ill-intended or power hungry; they just want to protect “Us, the American People,” et all, from our self-induced errors.

“Our, the American People’s” proclivity for letting government abridge our choice and take our property (wealth), arguably, stems from our inability (or unwillingness) to live as a sovereign citizenry under self-government. Largely true of any nation where government has power to confiscate property (wealth) and restrict choice (Liberty). And, to some extent, innate resentment of other people’s stature.

“If you want a picture of the future, imagine a boot stamping on a human face – forever.”

Governmental Power Structure has next to nothing to do with government's ability to carry out policy established by law. All said and done, government has only as much power as people are willing to tolerate. Before they revolt. Hard to say where UK politics will end up, or politics in any country. We can bet our tendency to be dissatisfied with authority will result in perpetual change to political power.

If life is unfair to everyone, does that make it fair?

Media Are Running Articles on a company asking some employees to forego their paid Time Off (PTO) so other employees can take medical leave. Not likely to be a serious problem for those of “Us, the American People” who would be willing to defer PTO as a gesture toward fellow employees. Gets sticky when an employer requires foregoing PTO for some so others can take time for medical absence.

“To sin by silence when they should protest makes cowards of men.”
~ Abraham Lincoln

It Would Not Be A Stretch to consider required PTO loss to underwrite medical leave for other employees as unpaid labor. There might be an argument for having PTO loss for various reasons, if employee and employer come to formal agreement. Otherwise, forcing employees to forego PTO could easily be seen, literally, as a form of slavery. Doubtful blatant slavery is likely hereabouts nowadays.

“The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of his country; but he that stands it now deserves the love and thanks of man and woman.”

~ Thomas Paine

America's Federal Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) provides job protection for unpaid employee absences. Businesses, however, end up paying for employees not at work through productivity loss, or, by hiring temporary workers to take up slack. One way or other there is a cost. "We, the American People" would be unreasonably idealistic to expect unlimited cost-free support.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

~ The Declaration of Independence

Planning For Rainy Days has been long recognized as a smart thing for "Us, the American People" to do in preparing for rough times. Wasn't yesterday when we first heard it's a smart idea to have some ready cash to keep us in burgers till things get back to normal. Lots of ways to for rainy days, including insurance, dedicated accounts, workplace plans, putting off unneeded large purchases. Not PTO forfeit.

"Blacks were not enslaved because they were black but because they were available."

~ Thomas Sowell

People Prepared To Live In Liberty do not allow legislators - or other public officials within These United States of America, to cause any citizen to be drawn into an obligation to assume responsibility for public debt for reasons other than to defend These United States. They uphold self-government and their option to protect their property and financial security as they see fit.

Americans know that something, many somethings, are wrong in this nation today. The United States of America is a nation of people who have bragged of freedom, but we are now recognizing that We the People are living under oppression by a tyrannical oligarchy government. We are not free! In many ways, we ourselves are to blame. Little by little we have accepted government assistance here and there, subsidies, mandates, permits, restrictions, inspections, licenses for this or for that, and in doing so, we have become a dependent people, no longer sovereign but owned by the government. Government, of any kind, cannot give the citizens anything unless it first takes it away from others.

“Government is not reason; it is not eloquent; it is force. Like fire, it is a dangerous servant and a fearful master. Experience has taught us that it is much easier to prevent an enemy from posting themselves than it is to dislodge them after they have got possession, and when the freedom of speech is taken away then dumb and silent we may be led, like sheep to the slaughter.” George Washington

I believe it is not only beneficial that we look at our Declaration of Independence, it is our duty to educate ourselves and understand what their “grievances” were, then compare them to today.

I’m just a simple layman, reading, studying and pondering the words of our Founding Fathers. This is not some OLD document to be enshrined, it is a current reminder of our beginning as a nation and our responsibility to be active and mindful members (consent of the governed) of our current government.

In this segment we will look at the sixth and seventh grievances listed in the Declaration of Independence.

Grievance #6

He has refused for a long time, after such Dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative Powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining in the meantime exposed to all the Dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

As I mentioned in a previous article, the king removed the local government established by the colonists. The king's dissolution of the government prevented the correction of economic problems and left the colonies open for invasion. Rule of law was not a priority of the king, for sure! This removed government structure and left the colonies in chaos.

We have cities in America today that are in utter chaos. Perhaps there is no king removing local laws, but many mayors and prosecutors refuse to enforce law and order, leaving Americans vulnerable. The number of homeless now living on the streets in American cities has risen exponentially. Homelessness encompasses many facets of people which also includes drug addicts and those who suffer from mental illnesses: they need help! For mayors, council members and prosecutors to ignore this problem, is destroying the cities, obstructing businesses and again, placing citizens in danger. ... Dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

In taking over the government, the king, as stated in the first part of this grievance, made sure that he was the only power and government that the colonists had. He was not going to give up his kingship over the colonies. He was causing great suffering with his "policies."

Today? Well, the Democrat Party has been changing election laws and manipulating districts in order to keep power. The 2020 election was a total fiasco of corruption. Not to cut the Republican Party any slack here, during the 2022 election they assisted the democrats by refusing to recognize the primary choices of citizens in certain states; denying them GOP financial support and there were no GOP endorsements. Those new candidates were left cold in the political water to drown. Honest elections are currently being denied to We the People.

Grievance #7

He has endeavoured to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstruction the Laws of Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of the Lands.

This is the opposite problem that we face today. As a new and growing land, the colonists welcomed and encouraged new people into their new land, but the king stopped the colonists from being able to attract new settlers to the colonies, closing down travel. He was concerned about the growing power of the colonies and the popularity of republican ideals among immigrants, in particular, German immigrants. In fact, after the restrictions of the peace settlement of 1763, very few people settled west of the Alleghenies; immigration nearly ceased until the time of the revolution.

(What was the peace settlement of 1763? The Treaty of Paris of 1763 ended the French and Indian War/Seven Years' War between Great Britain and France, as well as their respective allies. In the terms of the treaty, France gave up all its territories in mainland North America, effectively ending any foreign military threat to the British colonies there.) Wikipedia

Today our “government” is ignoring immigration laws to overwhelm the citizenry of this nation. The influx of illegal immigrants today has not only increased crime in our communities, but has also placed a burden on our economic system, education system, health system and on housing and property.

Removing our sovereign borders is denying that the United States of America is even a legitimate nation. It isn't that We the People do not want to allow others to enter our nation, we do however, hold the right to vet such strangers and make sure America is being increased with good and honest people and families that actually want to be American. At this time, we have foreign enemies illegally entering our nation and disappearing into the population; enemies from countries such as Afghanistan, China, Russia, Sudan, Iraq, and Iran to name a few.

It is also apparent that leaders of other nations have agreed with the current administration to send to this nation some of their vilest and most ruthless people. They are emptying their prisons and sending the criminals across our nation's borders.

Going back to the words of Grievance 6... causing, “dangers of invasions from without, and convulsions from within.”

I find it extremely interesting that after nearly 250 years, We the People have once again become oppressed by a totalitarian government. This time it isn't just one king, it is a legion, an oligarchy!

I use this often, it's a line from the movie The Patriot, “Why should I trade one king 3000 miles away for 3000 kings one mile away? An elected legislature can trample a man's rights as easily as a king can.”

We are facing the same oppressions that our Founding Fathers faced. Just recognizing this fact is a step in the right direction.

Restoring our Republic will not be easy, it will take much prayer and wisdom and action. We must learn from the past, then seek, and work, for a better future! For our Posterity, we must Bring America Home©.
